PRIVACY STATEMENT

The purpose of this document is to provide you with important initial information with regards to GDPR (AVG) and its application at InnerPiece Psychologie Praktijk.

According to this, we need to comply with a number of rules concerning privacy and therefore in the way of processing, storing and use of personal data.

Processing of data

Your personal data will only be asked in the beginning of our collaboration and only after you have initiated contact with the practice, requesting further services. All this information will not be shared with anyone else besides InnerPiece Psychologie Praktijk.

If there is need for sharing/exchanging information to third parties (such as referrals to other professionals or any other reason discussed and agreed with the client), then both psychologist and client need to put this in a written and signed document before any act is taken.

Storing data

All client documents will be safely stored and kept for 15 years, according to law.

If the client does not wish that their data is saved, then a written request shall be sent to the psychologist. Once this request is signed by both the client and the psychologist, then the request is accepted and therefore, all data can be deleted/removed from database.

For visitors of www.innerpiece.nl:

No personal information is recorded or registered when you visit this website. The only information provided to the owner of the psychology practice by the website administrator is regarding statistics (including number of page views and frequency of page visits), all of which is generic and anonymous, therefore no personal identifying information can be traced.

For more detailed information/questions on this matter, you can contact the psychologist at info@innerpiece.nl.

Additionally, all clients who decide to contact the practice will receive a consent form with all this information clearly specified, which needs to be read and discussed with the client in case of questions/concerns.

A signed copy of this consent form is necessary before any other collaboration takes place, so that we make sure all transparency with regards to this matter is maintained.
